Dear [REDACTED]

I want to express my appreciation for your participation in the panel discussion on the Soviet economy before The National War College on 6 January.

Although I was unfortunately prevented from hearing you, I understand from those who attended the presentation and the luncheon that the panel provided an illuminating insight into the current problems and prospects of the Soviet economy.

Please accept my thanks for your excellent contribution to this year's work of the college.

Sincerely yours,

Dear [REDACTED]

It gives me great pleasure to extend to you a cordial invitation to participate in a panel composed of Government officials, who will discuss the subject of "Soviet Economy: Problems and Prospects" at 9:00 A. M. on Monday, 6 January 1958.

On the day the panel meets, the members of the class will concentrate on the current problems and prospects of the Soviet economy. The day preceding the panel discussion a lecture will be given which will outline the characteristics of the Soviet economy. Building on this base, it is suggested that the panel include discussion relative to the present and future economic trends within the Soviet Union with emphasis on obstacles to economic growth.

A more detailed description of the daily topic for 6 January will be found on pages 27 through 30 of the enclosed copy of the draft syllabus.

Should you be able to accept this invitation, we shall communicate with you further regarding the administrative arrangements for your visit.

I sincerely hope we may have the pleasure of welcoming you back to The National War College on 6 January.

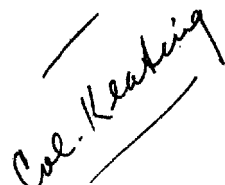

Sincerely yours,
